The Minnesota Attorney General's Office has sued solar lending companies, including Wolf River Electric, over hidden fees and other practices. The office has obtained consent judgments against solar installers and lenders, returning over $300,000 to consumers. ↗

What the lawsuit claims ↗

- The lenders misrepresented that loan repayment obligations were independent of the actions of the solar company
- The lenders failed to disclose upfront fees in the initial loan documents
- The practices prevented comparison shopping and gave the lenders and solar installers an unfair share of the market

What the lawsuit seeks civil penalties, restitution, disgorgement, and injunctive and declaratory relief. ↗

How to file a complaint

You can file a complaint with the Minnesota Attorney General's Office if you've been victimized by a solar advertiser, installer, or lender. You can file a complaint online or call (651) 296-3353 (Metro area) or (800) 657-3787 (Greater Minnesota). ↗
